

My name is Larry Daley. I was born in Canaan, Vermont in 1937. I joined the United States Navy in 1955 and retired in October 1983 (28 years) as a Senior Chief Aviation Ordnance. My career in the Navy allowed me to visit Japan, Singapore, Philippines, and Vietnam. After retiring from the Navy, I worked at Keyport Naval Base in WA state as a civilian in a battery shop where I built and discharged batteries for torpedoes and their targets. I also managed a motel thereafter and worked at a local car dealer as a driver. After my late wife passed in 2013, I started pet sitting a rescue dog named Filbert, who became my best friend. I understand most dogs in the United States live a privileged life compared with those in under-developed countries. Filbert became like my son; I spent many hours a day with him. In his honor, I gladly accepted my board position and would like to do my share to help the stray street dogs in Malaysia, especially after learning of their grave predicament. My advice to owners who have pets is to treat them like a human as they too have deep complicated feelings and feel pain. We are all god's children, and we must be kind to all.
