

My love and compassion for all animals goes back to my childhood. If I wasn't helping a baby bird back into the nest, I would be bringing home stray kittens or even a tortoise! I have had the privilege over the years to have several four-legged and feathered family members. These included: rabbits, a horse, birds, hamsters, cats, alpacas, and, most importantly, dogs, which hold a very special place in my heart. I have always supported animals and their causes, whether via my time by volunteering or monetarily. My career life has primarily been in business administration, including working with a couple of nonprofits. What I hope to bring to the table is years of business and life experience along with a logical and practical approach and the ability to see the big picture. I am excited to see how we can help the crisis in Malaysia and build upon the good work already being done there. All animals deserve kindness and compassion. Nobody can do everything, but we can all do something.
